What is evaluation?

- The systematic and objective assessment of a programme
 - Its design, implementation and results
- It is concerned with what the intervention has contributed, what it will contribute to the desired change (and how)
- It uses different methods to answer the evaluation questions

National Social Inclusion Strategy

The National Social Inclusion Strategy 2030 is a complex initiative aimed at reducing the risk of social exclusion and promoting social inclusion.

9 dimensions:

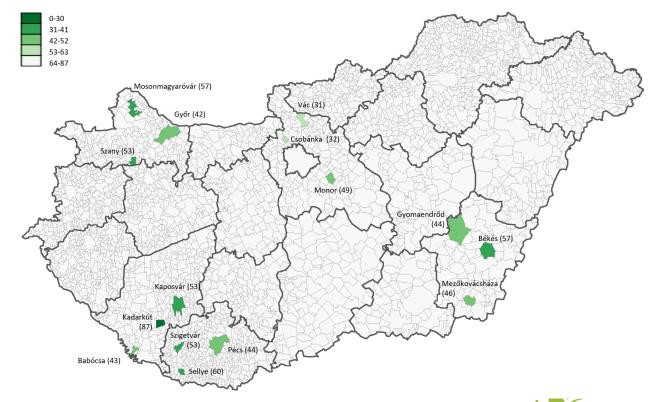

- Birth and childhood
- Public education, vocational training, higher education from kindergarten to university
- Youth affairs, having children, starting a family, lifestyle
- Employment, work, adult education, social economy
- Spatial disparities, urban development housing and energy poverty environmental awareness
- Physical and mental health, health care
- Roma identity, community building, awareness-raising, empowerment
- Institutional framework for the implementation of the Strategy, national and Carpathian Basin partnership
- Monitoring and follow-up of the Strategy

Results I.

Policy impact of the events

Goals

- Shaping the policy discoursewith heterogeneous actors
- Sharing best practices and taking them to the ministerial level

Implementation

- Policy briefings
- Composition of invited guests (regional affiliation)
- Practical presentations (mostly roundtable discussions)

Feedback

- Effective: information on funding → helps planning
- 27% of respondents think more of such sessions are needed → professional – practical
- 72% professional quality
- Other consultation forums → small overlap

Results II.

Cooperation and discussion

Goals

- Facilitating cooperation
- Establishing dialogue

Implementation

- Coffee breaks
- Space and time for comments

- Respondents' background
 (typically high networking capital, regional ties)
- Strengthening cooperation between professionals
- Reaching ministry, local decision-makers
- 65% (new contact), 15% (contact exchange)

Results III.

Popularity of the events

- 1. 84% of respondents left the event satisfied \rightarrow "consistent and professional"
- 2. 86% of respondents would attend a similar event
- 3. 16% of respondents have attended twice and 14% have attended more than twice
- 4. In general, survey respondents were more satisfied; interviewees made more suggestions for improvements.

Recommendations

Digital and interactive tools

- Online event streaming
- Pre-collection of questions for participants through an online system
- A regular newsletter reporting on the integration of the proposals made at the events

Content innovation

- Practical approaches
- Cooperation with forums with a similar profile
- · Longer breaks for networking

Community involvement and territorial focus

- More active involvement of local decision-makers in the event
- Survey of the challenges in the area

Thank you!
